

Being successful in the Garden Thanks to the Moon

Author: Sandra Lefrançois

Synopsis:

Since the dawn of time, farmers have taken the moon into account for the agricultural work: sowing when the moon grows, cutting and harvesting when the moon decreases. According to biodynamic – a natural agricultural method – plants need cosmos as much as they need the soil.

Throughout its cycles, the moon is better for roots, leaves, fruits or flowers. This book indicates to the readers the position of the moon day after day, as well as the associated works to do in the garden.

A precious guidebook to become an efficient gardener!

Content:

Moon calendar 2020, tips and advises, practical information.

The Author:

Sandra Lefrançois (Normandy) is the author of the Gardening Calendar. She works with institutions and magazines specialized in nature (Geo, National Geographic, ONF, etc.).

Specs:

128 pages – 195 x 225 mm

RPP: 9,95 €

ISBN: 978-2-7072-1182-8

Availability: January 21st 2019
