

Marie & Claire – Respect of Nature

February 2018

Synopsis:

Today the whole family is going on a walk and picnic in the forest. Marie and Claire are very pleased, but when they arrive at the picnic point, they discover that there are wastes everywhere. Their parents explain that this is pollution for the nature, and that wastes can take a very long time to disappear.

Between observation of nature and respect of the environment, this new story of Marie and Claire aims at raising children's awareness on doing something for nature, like, for example, the use of a recycling container.

The book also contains a page of presentation of the characters and 4 pages of advises by a psychologist, to help parents discuss of this issue with their children from 5 to 7 year-old.

The Author:

Céline Potard used to work as a publisher, but she is now an author specialised in children books. She works for different publishing houses: picture books and activity books with Auzou, animal books with Lito, game boxes with Bayard and documentaries with La Martinière.

The Illustrator:

Bénédicte Voile works as a graphic designer and an illustrator. She mainly works in the press field, both for adults and children, with magazine such as Disney Girl. In the book publishing field, she works with Hachette and Solar. Her style is modern and original. She loves giving life to her characters!
